ORDER

This matter comes before the Court on Plaintiff Microsoft Corporation’s (“Microsoft”) complaint for injunctive relief. Dkt. 1. For the reasons that follow, the Court GRANTS Microsoft’s preliminary injunction request.

I. BACKGROUND

A. Factual Background

At issue in this case is Microsoft’s efforts to “disrupt the technical malicious infrastructure of a sophisticated online criminal network” that has engaged in unlawful activity against Microsoft and the users of its software. Dkt. 8, 1. Microsoft Corporation owns Microsoft’s Office 365 (“O365”), a computer software program, which is a “cloud-based business and productivity suite of services.” Dkt. 1, ¶ 14. Defendants are unnamed and alleged abusers of Microsoft’s technology software, who can only be identified by the email addresses provided to the Internet Corporation for Assigned Names and Numbers (ICANN) registry. Id. ¶ 54. Microsoft discovered Defendants’ alleged scheme to gain unauthorized access and infiltrate accounts with O365, create “homoglyph imposter domains,”<sup>1</sup> and use what Microsoft describes as “malicious infrastructure” to target victim accounts in order to solicit fraudulent wire transfers. Dkt. 8, 5. Generally speaking, the alleged scheme involves three phases.

Phase One starts with unauthorized access to the O365 system. Attackers use stolen credentials either via “phishing emails,” using websites to induce victims to divulge their login credentials, or by purchasing those credentials on the dark web. Dkt. 8, 5-6.

Phase Two takes place after Defendants gain access to an O365 account. They seemingly conduct “reconnaissance” of the seized account, accessing the victim’s network and forwarding emails with keywords such as “invoice, accounts receivable, funds, overdue, payroll” to monitor financial activity on their accounts. Dkt. 8, 6. Defendants then register “homoglyph imposter domains”—which are fraudulent websites—to create “spoof email addresses” to fraudulently capitalize on business transactions, learn terms of art, and create “doctored invoice documents and tampered banking information.” Dkt. 8, 6-7. The imposter domain names are numerous.

Phase Three occurs after the spoof email addresses are created through the imposter domains. At this stage, Defendants solicit fraudulent financial transactions from the victims by impersonating members of the victim’s network. Dkt. 8, 6-10. For example, Microsoft points to a fraudulent email using an imposter domain to mirror genuine email traffic. See Dkt. 8, 8: Figure 1.

Microsoft emphasizes that it has tried to address this threat itself by using “real-time anti-spam and multiple anti-malware engines” to eliminate these threats from reaching victims’

<sup>1</sup> A “homoglyph” attack is a technique in which attackers abuse similarities of “character scripts”—in other words, similar addresses—to create a deceptively similar domain that tricks users into sharing information. Dkt. 1, ¶ 40. For example, Defendants purportedly added a single letter ‘s’ to the end of an existing domain, “junctionfueling.com,” to create “junctionfuelings.com.” By changing a character script, they hope to steal credentials from existing user accounts. Id.

inboxes. Dkt. 8, 12. However, Microsoft also points out that despite its self-help efforts, including disabling Defendants' access to the fraudulent accounts, the imposter domain names can be moved to other registrars and "hosting facilities" where new email accounts can be created "outside of Microsoft's ecosystem." Dkt. 1, ¶¶ 53, 61. Microsoft further emphasizes that the risk posed by moving the infrastructure is not theoretical, as there is evidence that Defendants have already moved one of the domains from the Microsoft ecosystem to another company, taking it outside of Microsoft's reach. Id. ¶ 26.

Microsoft maintains that the harm suffered has been extensive in that the company has expended substantial resources to fighting an ongoing and pervasive threat, and that the substantial trust with Microsoft's customers will be damaged because of the risk its customers will incorrectly attribute the Defendant's debilitating activities to Microsoft's performance. Dkt. 8, 12.

B. Procedural Background

Microsoft filed suit in this Court on July 13, 2021, seeking injunctive and other relief pursuant to (1) the Computer Fraud and Abuse Act (18 U.S.C. § 1030); (2) the Stored Communications Act (18 U.S.C. § 2701 et seq.); (3) the Virginia Computer Crimes Act (Virginia Code Ann. § 18.2-152.5:1); and (4) the common law of trespass to chattels and conversion. Microsoft moved ex parte for an emergency temporary restraining order and an order to show cause why a preliminary injunction should not be granted pursuant to Rule 65(b) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, 18 U.S.C. § 1030, 18 U.S.C. § 2701 et seq., 28 U.S.C. § 1651(a) (the All-Writs Act), and pursuant to this Court's inherent equitable authority.

On July 16, 2021, the Court held a hearing and issued a temporary restraining order and order to show cause why an injunction should not issue. Dkt. 18. Defendants have not responded to the Court's order to show cause. Complying with the Court's July 16, 2021 Order, Microsoft deposited a $50,000 security bond in the Court's registry on July 19, 2021. Dkt. 19. On July 28, 2021, the Court held a hearing on Microsoft's motion for a preliminary injunction. Dkt. 26.

II. STANDARD OF REVIEW

Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 65(a) authorizes federal courts to issue preliminary injunctions. Because a preliminary injunction is "an extraordinary remedy," it "may only be awarded upon a clear showing that the plaintiff is entitled to such relief." Winter v. Nat. Res. Def. Council, Inc., 555 U.S. 7, 22 (2008); see also Perry v. Judd, 471 F. App'x 219, 223 (4th Cir. 2012). A preliminary injunction is "never awarded as of right." Winter, 555 U.S. at 24. And "granting a preliminary injunction requires that a district court, acting on an incomplete record, order a party to act, or refrain from acting, in a certain way." Hughes Network Sys. v. InterDitgital Comm'cns Corp., 17 F.3d 691, 693 (4th Cir. 1994). Courts do not lightly award this extraordinary relief, and preliminary injunctions are therefore "to be granted only sparingly." Toolchex, Inc. v. Trainor, 634 F. Supp. 2d 586, 593 (E.D. Va. 2008) (quoting In re Microsoft Corp. Antitrust Litig., 333 F.3d 517, 524 (4th Cir. 2003)).

To prevail on a motion for a preliminary injunction, the movant must establish that each of four factors weighs in its favor: (1) the likelihood that the moving party will succeed on the merits; (2) the likelihood of irreparable harm to the plaintiff if the preliminary injunction is denied; (3) the balance of the equities; and (4) the public interest. Winter, 555 U.S. at 20. A grant of temporary injunctive relief requires the movant to establish the same four factors that govern preliminary injunctions. See id.

III. FINDINGS OF FACT AND CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

Having reviewed and taken judicial notice of the papers, declarations, exhibits, and memorandum, and all other pleadings and papers relevant to Microsoft's request for a preliminary injunction, and having considered the testimony provided at the hearing on the application for the temporary restraining order, the Court hereby makes the following findings of fact and conclusions of law:

1. This Court has jurisdiction over the subject matter of this case, and there is good cause to believe that it will have jurisdiction over all parties hereto; the Complaint states a claim upon which relief may be granted against Defendants John Doe 1 and 2 ("Defendants") under the Computer Fraud and Abuse Act (18 U.S.C. § 1030), the Stored Communications Act (18 U.S.C. § 2701 et seq.), the Virginia Computer Crimes Act (Virginia Code Ann. § 18.2-152.5:1), and the common law of trespass to chattels and conversion.

2. Defendants have not responded to the Court's July 16, 2021 Order to Show Cause.

3. There is good cause to believe that Defendants have engaged in and are likely to engage in acts or practices that violate the Computer Fraud and Abuse Act (18 U.S.C. § 1030), the Stored Communications Act (18 U.S.C. § 2701 et seq.), the Virginia Computer Crimes Act (Virginia Code Ann. § 18.2-152.5:1), and the common law of trespass to chattels and conversion, and that Microsoft is, therefore, likely to prevail on the merits of this action;

4. There is good cause to believe that, unless Defendants are restrained and enjoined by Order of this Court, immediate and irreparable harm will result from the Defendants' ongoing violations. The evidence set forth in Microsoft's Brief in Support of Ex Parte Application for a Temporary Restraining Order and Order to Show Cause Re Preliminary

Injunction (“TRO Application”), and the accompanying declarations and exhibits, and the testimony taken at the hearing on the application for temporary restraining order, demonstrates that Microsoft is likely to prevail on its claim that Defendants have engaged and are likely to engage in violations of the foregoing law by:

- a. intentionally attempting to access protected computers and computer networks of Microsoft and accessing the online accounts of Microsoft’s customers, without authorization or exceeding authorization, and/or attempting the activities, in order to:
  - i. steal and exfiltrate information from those computers, online accounts, and computer networks;
  - ii. attack and compromise the security of Microsoft’s protected computers and networks, and the online accounts of Microsoft’s customers, by conducting remote reconnaissance, stealing information, credentials and funds, monitoring the activities of users, carrying out fraudulent schemes to steal information, credentials and funds, and using other instrumentalities of theft; and
  - iii. defraud Microsoft’s customers.
- b. deploying computers and internet domains by which means Defendants conduct and/or attempt to conduct illegal activities, including attacks on computers, online accounts, and networks, monitoring activities of users, theft of information stored in online accounts and defrauding Microsoft’s customers;

5. There is good cause to believe that if such conduct continues, irreparable harm will occur to Microsoft, Microsoft’s customers, and the public. There is good cause to believe that the Defendants will continue to engage in such unlawful actions if not restrained from doing so by Order of this Court.

6. There is good cause to believe that immediate and irreparable damage to Microsoft and to this Court’s ability to grant effective final relief will result from the Defendants’ continued use of the internet domains listed in Appendix A to this Order and from Defendants’ sale, transfer, or other disposition, destruction or concealment of evidence of

Defendants' misconduct that is hosted at and otherwise operates through the internet domains listed in Appendix A to this Order. Based on the evidence cited in Microsoft's TRO Application and accompanying declarations and exhibits, and the testimony taken at the hearing on the application for temporary restraining order, Microsoft is likely to be able to prove that:

- a. Defendants are engaged in activities that directly violate United States law and harm Microsoft and the public, including Microsoft's customers;
- b. Defendants have continued their unlawful conduct despite the clear injury to the foregoing interests; and
- c. Defendants are likely to continue to use the technical infrastructure at issue in Microsoft's TRO Application and listed in Appendix A, thereby permitting them to continue their illegal acts and cause irreparable injury.

7. Microsoft's request for this relief is not the result of any lack of diligence on Microsoft's part, but instead based upon the nature of Defendants' unlawful conduct.

8. There is good cause to believe that Defendants have engaged in illegal activity using the internet domains identified in Appendix A by using those domains to (1) use information stolen from O365 accounts and computers to solicit fraudulent financial transactions, (2) deceive O365 users and their networks into making fraudulent financial transactions through imitation email accounts, and (3) to cause injury to Microsoft, its customers, and their networks who may wrongfully attribute these malicious actions to Microsoft.

9. There is good cause to believe that Defendants have engaged in illegal activity by using the internet domain registration facilities of the internet domain registrars identified in Appendix A to register the internet domains identified in Appendix A, so as to carry out the acts set forth in this Order. Many of those domains are registered through Verisign, which resides in the Eastern District of Virginia.

10. There is good cause to believe that Defendants have undertaken the acts alleged herein with knowledge that such acts would cause harm through domains located in and maintained through facilities in the Eastern District of Virginia, targeting Microsoft's customers and their networks in the Eastern District of Virginia and elsewhere in the United States, thereby injuring Microsoft and its customers.

11. There is good cause to believe that to halt the injury caused by Defendants, Defendants must be prohibited from taking any act and from utilizing the internet domains identified in Appendix A to (1) use information stolen from O365 accounts and computers to solicit fraudulent financial transactions, (2) deceive O365 users and their networks into making fraudulent financial transactions through imitation email accounts, and (3) to cause injury to Microsoft, its customers, and their networks who may wrongfully attribute these malicious actions to Microsoft.

12. There is good cause to believe that to halt the injury caused by Defendants, each of Defendants' domains set forth in Appendix A shall continue to be disabled at the registrar account set forth in the Temporary Restraining Order, thus making them inaccessible to Defendants.

13. There is good cause to permit notice of this Order and service of other pleadings by formal and alternative means, given the exigency of the circumstances and the need for prompt relief. The following means of service are authorized by law, satisfy Due Process, and satisfy Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 4(f)(3) and are reasonably calculated to notify Defendants of the instant order, the preliminary injunction hearing and of this action: (1) transmission by email, facsimile, mail and/or personal delivery to the contact information provided by Defendants to Defendants' domain registrars and hosting companies and as agreed to by Defendants in Defendants' domain registration and/or hosting agreements, (2) publishing notice on a publicly available internet website, (3) by personal delivery upon Defendants, to the extent Defendants provided accurate contact information in the United States; and/or (4) personal delivery through the Hague Convention on Service Abroad or similar treaties upon Defendants, to the extent Defendants provided accurate contact information in foreign countries that are signatories to such treaties.

14. Therefore, in accordance with Fed. R. Civ. P. 65(b), 18 U.S.C. § 1030, 18 U.S.C. § 2701 et seq., 28 U.S.C. § 1651(a) (the All-Writs Act), and pursuant to this Court's inherent equitable authority, good cause and the interest of justice require that this Order be Granted.

IV. CONCLUSION

For these reasons, it is hereby ORDERED that Defendants, Defendants' representatives, and persons who are in active concert or participation with Defendants, are restrained and enjoined from taking any act and from using the internet domains identified in Appendix A (1) to deceive users of Microsoft's products and services and by using those domains to obtain access to the protected computers and networks of Microsoft and to the online accounts of Microsoft's customers without authorization and in excess of authorization, (2) to attempt to obtain or obtain information stolen from those accounts and computers, (3) to carry out deceptive and fraudulent methods to attempt to steal computer users' account credentials, information and funds, and (4) to undertake any similar activity that inflicts harm on Microsoft, Microsoft's customers, or the public; and

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that, with respect to any currently registered internet domains set forth in Appendix A to this Order, the domain registrars located in the United States shall take the following actions:

A. Shall continue to maintain the domains on client hold status to prevent the domains from resolving in the domain name system, on client transfer prohibited status to prevent the domains from being transferred, on client update status to prevent the domains from being updated by Defendants, and otherwise take all steps to prevent Defendants from accessing, modifying, transferring or using in any manner the domains until the expiration of the domains at the end of the current registration period.

B. With regard to any domain registrars located outside of the United States, the Court respectfully requests, but does not order, that they take the same or substantially similar actions as the foregoing so as to neutralize the threat posed by the Defendants to the citizens of all countries, including their own. Defendants, their representatives and persons who are in active concert or participation with them are ordered to consent to whatever actions are necessary for non-United States registrars, set forth in Appendix A, to effectuate this request; and

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that, with respect to the internet domains set forth in Appendix A, the domain registrars located in the United States shall preserve, retain and produce to Microsoft all documents and information sufficient to identify and contact Defendants and Defendants' representatives operating or controlling the internet domains set forth in Appendix A, including any and all individual or entity names, mailing addresses, e-mail addresses, facsimile numbers and telephone numbers or similar contact information, including but not limited to such contact information reflected in billing, usage, access and contact records and all records, documents and logs associated with Defendants' or Defendants' representatives' use of or access to the internet domains; and

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that copies of this Order, notice of the preliminary injunction hearing and service of the Complaint may be served by any means authorized by law, including (1) transmission by email, facsimile, mail and/or personal delivery to the contact information provided by Defendants to Defendants' internet domain registrars and/or hosting companies and as agreed to by Defendants in the internet domain registration and/or hosting agreements, (2) publishing notice on a publicly available internet website, (3) by personal delivery upon Defendants, to the extent Defendants provided accurate contact information in the United States; and/or (4) personal delivery through the Hague Convention on Service Abroad or similar treaties upon Defendants, to the extent Defendants provided accurate contact information in foreign countries that are signatories to such treaties; and

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that this Preliminary Injunction shall remain in effect until further order of the Court.

It is SO ORDERED.
